

Introducing Energy MosaicSM

Energy Mosaic gives you access to a wide range of highly searchable databases loaded with valuable information on North American energy law, policy, and regulation.

Let Us Do the Heavy Data-Lifting for You

We are pleased to introduce you to the Energy MosaicSM Website and News Service—an innovative online platform for energy professionals. Launched in May 2005, Energy Mosaic fills a significant gap in the legal publishing market, providing energy professionals with a rich data environment and powerful, easy-to-use tools for conducting research. Our information divides into five content areas.

Extract Regulatory & Compliance Information.

- Access all the disclosure information you need from our database of real-time SEC filings by energy companies.
- Energy Mosaic gives you instant, precise access to current federal energy regulations (including amendments and proposed changes), and to information from the Federal Register.
- Use targeted searches and flexible options for viewing and disseminating search results.

Research Current & Pending Law Confidently.

- Energy Mosaic allows practitioners to efficiently research the current energy law, pending legislation, and court cases related to energy regulation and compliance.
- Use our full text search and custom document creation functions to create your own document of selected sections from the U.S. Code.
- Energy Mosaic lets you easily identify code changes enacted by recent public laws.

Track FERC Rulemaking and Oversight Activity.

- Energy Mosaic collects and organizes Commission orders, opinions, notices, administrative law proceedings, and reports into easy-to-search databases.
- Learn about energy industry activities, compliance filings, and FERC decisions using Energy Mosaic's library of current FERC documents.
- Search data by industry section, date, keywords and FERC docket numbers. We provide links to full documents, which can be easily printed or emailed.

Enjoy Easy Access to Expert Legal Analysis.

- Energy Mosaic maintains a series of databases that will help energy practitioners interpret energy compliance obligations.
- Our growing library of over 1,500 law firm memos covering energy regulatory issues puts invaluable legal guidance at your fingertips.
- Quick links to educational and industry websites, and to state public utilities commissions, give you ready access to important sources of information for the energy professional.

Find Complete Coverage of Breaking Energy News.

- The Daily Energy Mosaic News gives you instant access to the important energy news of the day in an easy-to-read format; enjoy our searchable archive of previous daily issues.
- Our news coverage includes the most current North American news stories, FERC headlines and rulemaking actions, energy legislation, and law firm memos.
- We help you track developments in the areas of electric power generation and transmission, rate setting, pipelines, gas exploration and production, hydroelectric power project development, and alternative energy resources.
- Every daily news email includes links to the full text of each news story, new FERC rules and headlines, new law firm memos, and the most recent energy bills before Congress.
- Our new service will help prepare you to advise clients on such matters as rate-setting, construction authorizations, terms and conditions of regulated services, acquisitions and dispositions of energy assets, and enforcement actions.
